Retriever News Website

An Overview of What's Available Online

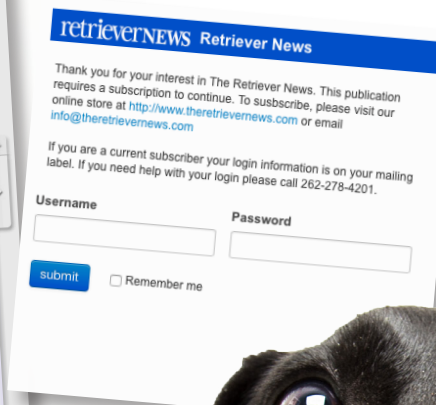

There is so much information available on our website – and you probably don't even know it's there! This Guide will walk you through some of our most popular resources ...

In 1998, Retriever News purchased an existing website, Working Retriever Central. Its Internet mission paralleled that of the 'News' but has since expanded beyond the competitive sport to include other important retriever activities. In 2010, this website changed its appearance and name, becoming TheRetrieverNews.com. Together, the 'News' and its companion website have become the nation's leading source for National reports, news, competitive field trial and hunting test achievements – all things related to the working retriever. Due to the generous support of our Sponsors and advertisers, our team produces a National Daily Blog. There were over 1,100,000 page views surrounding the National events covered in 2017. The popularity of the up-to-the-minute daily coverage continues to grow every year ...

This is a Big One!

Retriever News EXPRESS was developed after Retriever News and Entry Express joined together. The intention of the merger was to keep all the working retriever data intact and all in one place so that the historic dog records were as accurate as possible. In today's world, people expect instant information at their fingertips. The results in the monthly magazine have become more of a recap as folks visit Entry Express to find the results of an event they are interested in.

Retriever News EXPRESS is updated more frequently than is possible in a printed magazine. As we receive a "news feed" from Entry Express, the results are verified and statistical analysis produces the data available to anyone, even if they don't subscribe to the Retriever News. So check it out and see where your dog stands (or stood) in relation to others on this invaluable resource – the only "verified" results available.
